

HAPPY NEW YEAR

We couldn't let such an eventful year pass without a final newsletter. We wish you all a Happy New Year and may it bring you happiness and peace. We hope too that it will bring us all closer together in our work for the community at our MenzShed.

Although we don't formally take possession of our new home and until the New Year, we have been allowed in to start setting up. We'll be sharing the space with Refugee Services, but we'll still have more than enough room.

This was some of the group trying out one of our two meeting rooms. Great for Grumpy Old Men Sessions and other things we have in mind.

Alongside this are two much larger spaces for work shop and tools storage.

Our first formal day will be Thursday 12 January, but in the meantime the Trustees will be popping in and out with various bits of furniture and tools. You're welcome to come and have a nosey too. If the roller door is up then some one is there.

It's short notice but two of us will be there today Thursday 29 December between 10 and about 12 (we never rest).

You can copy this newsletter to your friends, or cut out the poster on the right and slip it into a few letter boxes.

Are you an older man?
Want to find companionship?

Then this is for you!
